Community togetherness tops Chamber's agenda

by GLORIA DAVIS

A large crowd of Antioch business people and residents gathered at the Antioch Golf Course, Inc. for the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry's annual dinner-dance and installation of officers on Saturday.

The dinner marked the end of Larry Hanson's tenure as president of the Chamber and heralded the beginning of a new Chamber administration to be led by new Chamber President Stan Luta and some new officers and board members.

During the last three years, the Chamber has put itself into a good cash position following a period of financial deficit.

The Chamber has established new activities and improved on old ones that directly benefit the retail and industrial community such as the RV Show, the Art Fair and the Christmas Program, now done in conjunction with the village.

New president, Luta, promises not only to continue the good work the Chamber has already started, but vows to double the present membership now at 135.

Great potential in increasing the Chamber's worth is seen in the appointment of William Brook as head of business development. Brook's vast business experience makes him a significant addition to the Chamber's roster.

Under the new administration, there will be four quarterly general membership meetings which are planned to increase the Chamber's communication with other village entities. The Chamber will be asking for more input and assistance from other village agencies.

Luta is planning to form a Presidents' Club made-up of the heads of area organizations. It is hoped that this new contribution of ideas will help eliminate any conflict in planning events. The ultimate plan is that discussions with all the area agencies and organizations will bring the Chamber and the community closer together, making it an even more viable organization.

Village board votes fire district tax hike

by GLORIA DAVIS

In an effort to enable the Antioch Fire Dist. to raise more money for the purchase of needed firefighting equipment and for maintaining the present vehicles, the Antioch Village Board voted to increase the fire district's tax rate from .15 per $100 of assessed valuation to .25.

The board also agreed to install additional doors in the fire station, the village paying half of the cost and the fire district the other half. Another approval given by the board at its last regular meeting on Monday was the appointment of James Schaffer as a probationary fireman.

The village passed an ordinance vacating 10 feet of Victoria St. to be used as a bicycle and pedestrian path. This land is to stay in the village's domain and not revert to the adjoining property owners.

Another ordinance under consideration by the board concerning a motel-hotel tax is still on hold.

Since the planning and zoning board has already turned down requests for the rezoning of the Jacobs property (boarded up house) next to the new Walgreens shopping mall on Rte.

83 to multiple dwelling or commercial, the village board directed that a letter be sent to the planning and zoning board asking them what they want done with this property "which is an eyesore as it now stands."

Airlines pilot requests use permit for private airport

A public hearing relative to a conditional use request in an agriculture zone for the purpose of installing a private airport off of Wilmot Rd., east of the Fox River, in Antioch Twp. will be held at the Antioch Township Hall at 1:30 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 8 by the Lake County Zoning Board of Appeals.

The conditional use request has been made by Hawkins Farms, Inc. present owners of the property and John Pet-schelt (prospective buyer) who is a commercial pilot.

The Petschelt's want to purchase 30 acres off of Wilmot Rd. and have plans pending to build a house on part of that acreage this spring.

They would also like to put adjacent to that house a private airport for one small single engine private plane, the purchase of which is also pending.

'Tax laws and children' to be program topic

The deep cuts in individual tax rates created by the Tax Reform Act of 1986 did not come without a price. Parents figuring their children's income tax may find that old tax strategies may no longer work.

In order to help parents prepare their children's tax returns, two free presentations on the changes in tax laws that affect children will be held on Jan. 27 at 1 and 7 p.m. at the Lake County Cooperative Extension Service auditorium in Grayslake.

Some of the new changes that will be discussed by an officer of the IRS are: clifford trusts are eliminated and a minor's unearned income over $1,000 is taxed to the child at the parents' tax rate; children claimed as dependents by their parents cannot claim a personal exemption a second time on their own returns; the Social Security number of everyone claimed as a dependent who is over age five months must be shown; changes have been made in rulings on giving appreciated property to children under 14; and scholarships and fellowships are now taxable except for certain expenses.

The two-hour program will help parents determine the amount of tax they and their children must pay and will include written guidelines to help parents, and a question and answer period for general and specific questions

NORTRAN approves budgets for 1988

The Fiscal 1988 bus operations and district budgets were unanimously approved by the Board of the North Suburban Mass Transit District at last month's meeting.

The vote was simply an official gesture of approval to the budgets which had already been thoroughly reviewed on a number of different levels.

Both budgets received the careful scrutiny of the district's Bus Operations and Executive Committees.

as well as a considerable amount of staff preparation. The bus operations budget of $10.6 million, while initially prepared by NORTRAN, was worked out in conjunction with NORTRAN's funding agency, Pace, Pace, as the RTA's suburban bus division, will subsidize $6.8 million of the budget total.

The district budget of $161,700, which is money received in large portion from community allocations, allows the district to continue its work as transit liaison to nearly 25 communities and support NORTRAN bus operations through such functions as marketing, planning, rail and paratransit.

The 1988 budget totals are less than those for 1987. The District budget is down slightly by a little more than $1,100. The bus operations budget is $28,000 less than last year. NORTRAN officials, however, anticipate no cutbacks in service or quality, but only hope to slightly tighten the reins on expenses.

The next board meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, Jan. 27 at 8 p.m. in the Elk Grove Village Hall, 901 Wellington.

Forest preserve ready to greet groundhogs

Celebrate Groundhog Day at the Edward L. Ryerson Conservation Area in Deerfield. Families are invited to help naturalist Nan Buckardt wake from hibernation either the world's largest groundhog or the strangest person ever seen.

"Groundhogs have long been used as an aid to predicting the end of winter. The absence or presence of a shadow has helped generations decide when to put away their woolies," said Don Strenger, president of the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. "This program explores and helps to explain how people came to rely on groundhogs as weathermen."

"This is a wonderful experience for families with young children," said Buckardt. "The groundhog has captivated many audiences and holds them spellbound while explaining its life."

Groundhog enthusiasts should meet at the Ryerson Woods Visitor's Center at 1:30 p.m. on Sunday, Jan. 31. Reservations may be made by calling (312) 948-7750. The program is fifty cents for Lake County residents and $1 for non-residents.

The preserve is located on Riverwoods Rd., between Deerfield Rd. and Rte. 22.

If Heat Pumps Aren't That Efficient, Why Is The Gas Company So Worried?

It isn't as if we're trying to put the gas company out of business.

On the contrary, gas heat is very important in northern Illinois.

The problem is that gas furnaces are wasteful. Especially when winter temperatures climb above 32 degrees. And during the northern Illinois heating season, temperatures are above freezing nearly two-thirds of the time.

Fortunately, that's when a heat pump added to your furnace really shines.

When outdoor temperatures are above 32 degrees, the electric heat pump can be three times as efficient as the best furnace.

The reason is that heat pumps heat by collecting warmth from the outside air and pumping it inside. No matter how cold it gets, there's always some warmth in the air. Heat pumps just move it from one place to another.

In the summer, the heat pump reverses itself, moving warm air from the inside out.

Presto. It's a whole-house air conditioner.

Try that with a gas furnace sometime.

Still, good as a heat pump may be, when it's extremely cold outside, your furnace is a pretty effective source of heat.

That makes the most efficient system a dual fuel system. A furnace for very cold days. A heat pump for cold, warm and very warm days.

Now how can the gas company be upset about that?

Members of Free Church join spiritual Adventure

For the 50 days beginning Feb. 14, a group from the Antioch Evangelical Free Church will be joining a spiritual adventure sponsored by the national radio broadcast, "The Chapel of the Air."

The adventure study is entitled, "50 Days for Christ to Transform My Daily Work."

Planned to coincide with the Lenten season, the adventure is an annual event dedicated to helping participants experience rapid spiritual growth through a time of intense Bible study, prayer and Christian outreach. This year's study will conclude on Easter Sunday, April 3.

Each adventurer who joins the study will receive a 48-page adventure journal containing scripture readings, weekly assignments and a place to record daily progress. This journal also contains a full description of the five Adventure disciplines, which direct adventurers to "Bridge the Gap Between Church and Work," "Personalize Biblical Truths About Daily Work," "Reaffirm the Ultimate Authority of Christ," "Delight Others by Giving the Presents of Christ," and "Do an End-of-the-Day Replay."

The 50-day spiritual adventure materials are distributed by the Chapel of the Air, a 48-year-old radio broadcast headquartered in Wheaton. Children and teen versions of the adventure journal are also available.

In addition to the group at the Antioch Evangelical Free Church about 2,000 other congregations from across the country will be joining the Chapel's adventure beginning Feb. 14. Hundreds of thousands of individuals will also participate directly through the Chapel of the Air radio broadcast.

Last year over 200,000 adults and 60,000 young people received Adventure materials through the broadcast, which is heard locally each Monday through Friday at 8:30 a.m. over WMBI-AM.

Award per capita grant to Nippersink Library

Nippersink Public Library has been awarded a per capita grant by Sec. of State Jim Edgar, who is also the state librarian. The award amounts to $4,576, or 99.3 cents for each person in the library district.

According to state law, libraries are eligible for per capita grants if they meet two criteria. They must work to meet Illinois public library standards and levy local taxes at a rate of at least .13 percent.

Per capita grants are intended to supplement library budgets and to be used for operations or purchases over and above the library's normal operating expenditures.

The 1987 grant was used to develop the library's audio-visual department and purchase AV equipment and material. The library now checks out a new filmstrip projector and 16 mm projector. It has a new record player for story hour use and a mini-filmstrip projector for in-house patron use.

The record and audiotape collection have been reorganized, the videotape collection has grown, and a small collection of children's videotapes has been purchased.

Filmstrip titles include "St. George and the Dragon," "Chicken Soup with Rice," and "Six Revolutionary War Figures." These can be used in the library or checked out with the filmstrip projector.

The 1988 grant will be used to update and improve the reference department and to provide for adult and children's programming.

Nippersink is one of 12 libraries in McHenry County to receive the per capita grant. In the past few years, per capita grants have ranged from 50 cents to $1 per capita, depending on state funding.

Former statesman, RTA advocate Conolly dies

John H. Conolly, a popular former state legislator who served Lake County for more than a decade, died in

John Conolly

Chicago Monday at the age of 52.

The former state representative and state senator was instrumental in the creation of the Regional Transportation Authority.

Visitation was held at a Waukegan funeral home on Wednesday. Funeral services were private.

He was born in Waukegan in 1935, a fifth generation member of a county pioneer family, and was raised in Gurnee. He attended Lake Forest Academy, and graduated from Michigan State University.

Conolly was elected to the Illinois House of Representatives in 1962. At the age of 27, he was, at the time, the youngest person ever to represent Lake County in the legislature.

He served five terms in the House and one in the Senate as a 31st Dist. Republican.

He was chairman of the House Public Utilities Committee and later chairman of the Senate Transportation Committee. He was a member of the Illinois Legislative Council, the research branch of the state legislature, and was its chairman from 1967 to 1971.

While in the General Assembly, Conolly advocated increased highway expenditures for Lake County and construction of the Lakefront Freeway. Many felt that his stand on behalf of the RTA contributed to his defeat in the 1974 elections.

Conolly also pushed for construction of the Waukegan Development Center, and was active in 4-H during his youth and later in life. In 1972, President Nixon appointed Conolly to the Committee on State and Local Government Cooperation, which served in an advisory capacity to the President's Cost of Living Council.

Conolly was a stockbroker with Conolly & Co., the oldest investment firm in Lake County, which had been founded by family members. After selling the business to the Illinois Co., he later was a registered lobbyist on behalf of the North Shore Sanitary Dist., the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad and others.

Survivors include two children, John, Jr. and Suzanne, both of Lake Forest; one brother, Robert Conolly of Jacksonville, Fla.; and one sister, Ellen Whitmore of Libertyville.

Defeat county executive

Voters in the March 15 primary will have their work cut out separating the pluses and minuses on the county executive form of government being offered in a referendum.

Besides being confusing, the referendum is ill-timed and ill-conceived. A legal cloud is hanging over the act providing for a county executive. Aside from any merits provided by adoption of county executive, it would be a mistake in our opinion to adopt the proposition until clarifications can be made in the statutes.

Lake County Republican Chairman Robert Neal and his supporters rushed through a petitioning process last fall to get the executive proposal on the primary ballot this spring. We think this is terribly unfair to the electorate, especially to those who are sincerely concerned about the inadequacies of the present system of electing a County Board chairman by County Board members. What are the options? To be sure, there are other options beside the czar-like county executive, in our opinion.

Perhaps the biggest miscarriage of the March 15 referendum is that it confusingly links county executive form with home rule. The ballot language is perplexing and bewildering. The March 15 question on county executive form should be defeated and we will do everything in our power to bring about its downfall.

The Rte. 53 'twitch'

It was about 1960 when Illinois highway engineers did one of those 30 year projections that called for a highway extending northward from Rte. 53 to connect with an upgraded Rte. 120 at a point south of Grayslake. The engineers saw the limited access Rte. 120 swinging around the Fox Lake area northward to connect with a super highway Rte. 12 at the Wisconsin state line.

Politicians and certain members of the media never quite got over the implications of that extended Rte. 53, especially when they looked southward to the corridor of mushroom growth and development spawned by the superhighway in northwest Cook County. Unfortunately, a combination of circumstances intervened with the futuristic 1990 highway plan with the result that Rte. 53 got as far north as Dundee Rd. before halting abruptly and four lanes of Rte. 120 westward out of Waukegan got as far as Wildwood east of Rte. 45 before halting.

For all practical purposes, plans for continuation of Rte. 53 and 120 were put into mothballs. Maybe the plans are in a museum case somewhere. No one seems to know for sure. Still, politicians and the media (we've been guilty ourselves) delight in trotting out the highway plans, mulling them over and opining over "what might have been." We call that the Rte. 53 "twitch."

Interestingly, folks in Long Grove who opposed Rte. 53 from the start, never forgot about the highway expansion plans. They geared a good bit of their designs for the future to protect the environment from the impact of road construction and "fill in" the area foreseen as the path of the proposed highway with expensive homes. Scores of homes now stand in what once was envisioned as the Rte. 53 corridor.

If there is any validity to the future of Rte. 53 in Lake County, the question has to be asked whether there's enough money in Illinois to uproot people in Long Grove for highway right-of-way? The Rte. 53 corridor hasn't been protected, no plans are on the drawing board and no funds are available. The Rte. 53 as envisioned in the early 1960s appears to be doomed. Still, the twitching continues.

Trade autonomy for dollars

Declining enrollment and Chicago's disproportionately high share of state aid are formidable reasons why Illinois legislators are not enthusiastic about increasing state aid to schools. Because we happen to live in an area of rapid growth, our suburban school districts thus suffer a penalty of sorts.

Public elementary and secondary school enrollment in Illinois declined 17 percent in the past 10 years and further enrollment declines are predicted through 2000. The decline is being experienced everywhere in the state—including Chicago—except the suburbs as a whole.

A total of $2.8 billion was spent by the state on elementary and secondary education in fiscal 1987, 25 percent of the state's general funds. A study by Comptroller Roland W. Burris showed that education spending was up 57 percent in the last decade. Our representatives in Springfield haven't exactly turned their backs on school needs as they have been accused.

If legislators appear insensitive, one reason might be that they are reacting to the fact that local taxes account for only 37.4 percent of revenues to the Chicago Board of Education. This compares to 57.3 percent in the suburbs and 43.6 percent Downstate.

All state sources provide 50.9 percent of Chicago school income. This compares to 38 percent for Downstate and only 19.9 for the suburbs. It's no wonder that school officials in our community and neighboring towns complain about inequities.

The demographic and political disparities being what they are, both the demand for more aid and the reticence undoubtedly will continue. As long as local taxpayers are continuing to foot an even bigger share of education costs, it seems only fair that local school officials and taxpayers in this community have more say so in the operation of our schools. More autonomy is worthwhile and would seem to be more possible to attain than more dollars from the state.

Face it Bears: No. 1 priority is quarterback

by BILL SCHROEDER

This is the week all of us were supposed to be whooping it up about the Super Bowl-bound Bears. Because of a cork-armed quarterback, a runner past his prime and some pampered and pompous egomaniacs, it's "wait until next year." Again!

No one asked me, but the Chicago-Lakeland Bears badly need a quarterback who can start the season and finish the season. Jim McMahon approaches his job like a punched-out old gamer still trying to make a buck in the ring. McMahon might be a world beater "when he's healthy," but no trainer would ever try and pull off that bromide with the savvy track crowd. A horse either can run or he can't. Getting a quarterback to go the distance is Bear priority No. 1.

The Bears better come up with a pair of cornerbacks or they won't even survive division competition in '88. We suggest they look elsewhere than male strip joints for their talent. Add some offensive linemen to the wish list. Jimbo Covert needs help.

Tell William Perry the truth. He plays football like a fat man trying to escape from an innertube. Maybe he can take up wrestling or get a job as a taster in a ribspot.

Without a doubt, Mike Ditka will be able to deal with Walter Payton in the front office better than as a fading superstar. Hopefully, Mike can ship his malcontents to Tampa or some other pro league outpost, then concentrate on his concept of team play, an idea that has become as novel with the Bears as going to class at the University of Miami.

The Bears still possess some marvelously talented athletes who comprise the basis of a team that is the envy of any in this universe. They can win it all with the desired changes—and someone else calling the plays.

Then this time next year we can be doing wool woofs instead of hand wringing about what might have been.

BRANDO MYSTERY—There is an aura of mystery about a project to reveal the young Marlon Brando when he attended Libertyville High School. Students of LTHS of the early 1940's have an opportunity to be immortalized on film by recounting anecdotes about the famous actor when he was plain Bud Brando, who lived on a farm on W. Hawley St., Mundelein. Brando classmates have been invited to write 1285 Concord Ln., Libertyville, to make themselves known.

As an alumnus of Libertyville High, your correspondent and the mumbling movie maven shared the same dramatics teacher, the late M.J. Bergfeld, but I can't shed any light on Brando's youth because he was long gone before a diploma was thrust on me. There were plenty of Brando stories, though, still echoing the hallowed halls of old LTHS. M.J., a popular and beloved teacher, never held out Brando as a role model in those days because Bud's behavior was more inclined to produce grey hairs instead of Oscars. The quest for yarns about the boy Brando sounds interesting. He still is the most famous LTHS student who never graduated.

TINSEL-TOWN TALK—Deborah Nelson, 35, a former Grayslake resident who now is a Chicago newspaperwoman, is finding out how Hollywood deals with the real world.

A made-for-TV film company is "doing" Deborah's experiences covering a big story in Elk Grove Village where owners and supervisors were charged with murder in the cyanide deaths of production workers. Nelson won prestigious journalistic awards for the case that has become a legal landmark.

Hollywood scrapped the first version of Nelson's story and now is in the process of fictionalizing events to make her experiences more suitable for viewing audiences.

You'll be seeing a program one of these days about a courageous young suburban newspaperwoman writing about grizzly cyanide deaths, but any resemblance to Nelson will be coincidental. As a writer for the Sun-Times, Nelson has added a law degree to her credits.

IN A SHADOW—Pete Tekampe feels like the shadow of real estate development is hounding his extensive livestock and grain operation on Peterson Rd. "I think I've got about five years, maybe 10 at the most," remarked Tekampe before his land will be overtaken for something other than farming.

Tekampe is president of the Lake County Farm Bureau, an organization that has been adapting to the urbanization trend for a long time.

BUSY—Even with a busy schedule as postmaster of Antioch, Stan Luta still has time for civic endeavors. "I like it that way," declares Stan, who just took over as president of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce.

Before coming to Antioch, Luta was finance officer at the big post office in DesPlaines where he was active in United Way and past president of Kiwanis. Stan has one passion in his life—golf. He manages to squeeze that in summers, probably because the days are longer.

Grant Farrell may be Democrats' rising star

LAKE COUNTY DEMOCRATIC Chairman Jay Ukena has good reason to be enthused about Grant Farrell, the Democrat who will challenge incumbent State Rep. Robert Churchill (R-62) in the general election this November.

Farrell is an intelligent, affable man who is knowledgeable about state and local issues. While firm in his beliefs, Farrell is not afflicted with any absolute certainty that he is right all the time. He states his case and listens, as well.

Just Politics

By Charles Johnston

Frequently, when a candidate, particularly a challenger, files, he is better prepared for monologues than he is dialogues. Farrell is prepared for both.

A resident of Antioch, Farrell has roots in Winthrop Harbor as well.

Will he win? No, but in a less heavily Republican district he would have a shot. And if he does not get too downhearted after taking a loss the first time out of the box, he could become a very important figure in the Democratic Party in Lake County.

IS BOB DEPKE in or out of the race for County Board in Dist. 5? First, we reported that he was out - he had circulated petitions but did not file. Then we were told that it was an error in the County Clerk's records, so we reported otherwise.

Finally, last week, incumbent Dist. 5 member James Dolan (R-Libertyville) called and said there was no error. So we called the clerk again and were informed that, indeed, Depke is not in the race.

So it is going to be four years of "Moore - Dolan," as Dolan likes to joke about the ticket of himself and Andrea Moore (R-Libertyville).

STATE SEN. ADELINE Geo-Karis (R-Zion) is out collecting awards again. The Women's Bar Assn. of Illinois will present her with a legislative leadership award at its legislative reception in Chicago on Jan. 28.

Geo-Karis was appointed caucus chairman of the minority party last year, becoming the first woman of either party to be appointed to a leadership position in the Illinois Senate.

Two other state senators, Senate President Philip Rock and State Sen. Howard Carroll, chairman of the appropriations I committee, will also be honored with Legislative Leadership Awards.

Memory too short

Editor:

Charles Johnston's column in last week's papers says "Norm Geary's influence has declined on the County Board, but in his prime, he was a masterful organizer."

Obviously, you have already forgotten Waste Management's Incinerator and the Heartland agreement. And, what about Brae Loch purchase, with 58 acres of additional open space for Grayslake and Dist. 4? The most recent is the just-approved budget for the Lake County Health Dept. that included a satellite office in Dist. 4 for the environmental division and other important health department additions.

All of the above were unanimously opposed by the other representatives from out district! If your papers were adequately covering the County Board, you would see first hand that Norm Geary is still winning the big ones, in spite of the opposition from our own "representatives."

Imagine what he could do with some support!

March 15 the voters will have a chance to review the record of our incumbents and determine what kind of leadership is best for our County Board future. I hope the voters don't have as short a memory as you seem to have.

Virginia K. Harrington
Avon Twp. Town Clerk

Misspelling revealing

Editor:

I find it ironic that your editorial about prisons and education misspelled the word supersede twice—once in the headline and once in the body of the editorial. Maybe you were trying to make a point about the poor quality of education in Illinois.

Your headline said more about the quality of education in Illinois than the rest of the editorial combined, convincing me that when the time comes, I'll send my children to private schools where hopefully spelling is taught.

Seek mates

Editor:

Destroyermen have been somewhat more optimistic lately because they now have a national organization to represent them. The outfit is known as Tin Can Sailors. A "tin can" is the Navy's own nickname for the light and thin hull destroyers of World War II fame. Some 71 of these destroyers were lost in World War II, the largest loss of any other ship.

The Tin Can Sailors is an 8,000-member, nonprofit national organization comprising destroyer sailors from every class of destroyer dating from World War I to those presently in the Naval service. Over 1,500 different ships and crews are represented. The organization is home based aboard the destroyer USS Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr. DD 850 in Battleship Cove, Fall River, Mass. The Kennedy was the first naval destroyer saved from scrapping and is now a museum. The Admiral Arleigh Burke National Destroyermen's Museum is also based there.

Tin Can Sailors will conduct its 12th annual national convention in Seattle, Wash. in July. Persons interested in more details about the organization may write to Edward J. Ward, Executive Secretary, Tin Can Sailors, Inc., Battleship Cove, Fall River, Mass., 02721.

Need cab service

Editor:

The taxi cab service provided to the senior citizens of Fox Lake is indispensable. To force Mr. and Mrs. Thorne out of business would be to immobilize hundreds of seniors who depend on them to keep doctor's appointments, to do grocery shopping and to get to and from church services.

Operating out of their homes makes them more accessible than they otherwise would be. I strongly urge the city council to take a long, hard look at the facts before taking any action on this matter. Too many people would be adversely affected by the loss of this service.

Bi-State

Chrysler Corp. officially announced Monday that its purchase of the Kenosha American Motors Plant last year has given the nation's Number Three automaker too much capacity and plans are already made to shut one of its plants down. The Kenosha plant is one of three plants that head Chrysler's shutdown list because the plant is 80 years old and Local 72 Auto Workers Union has refused to talk about any work changes. Local 72 official, Rudy Kuzel, said that the union has already set up a meeting with Chrysler in February.

U.S. companies compete with imports

by GARY S. MEYERS

The falling value of the dollar is giving American manufacturers a great opportunity. Will they take advantage of it?

Or, will our leaders in industry be short-sighted and greedy, setting themselves up for yet another fall? The economic security of every American is on the line.

Three top corporate professionals point the way:

"Over the next 10 years we can take the foreign markets by storm, but we must be right thinking and right planning," said Frank Langenberg, chairman of The Interlake Corp., a publicly-held international conglomerate.

"American businessmen must look beyond the next quarter's profits," said David Shelby, president of ICM Industries, a privately-held international marketing firm. "They must plan long term, at least two to five years into the future."

"A major problem is that American business is run by professional managers, whose bonuses are based on profits. And, they (the managers) are not in power long enough to make long-term planning pay off personally," said Paul Suhadolc, president of Crown Castings Inc., a small manufacturing firm competing successfully with foreign firms.

Langenberg, Shelby and Suhadolc all are calling for the retooling of America.

"We must reinvest, so that our antiquated manufacturing plants are not forced to compete with modern factories in Japan and West Germany," said Langenberg. "And, we must be efficient enough to beat cheap foreign labor."

In February 1985, the U.S. dollar peaked against the Japanese yen and West German mark, after climbing steadily for a year.

As the dollar began to fall, Americans, especially travelers, were thrilled because previously expensive foreign products were becoming less expensive. It wasn't all that long ago that the United States was a net exporter, so nobody paid much attention to our balance of trade as the value of the dollar climbed.

Today people are paying attention. As the dollar grew in strength, foreigners could no longer afford our products. Our manufacturers lost critical market share both overseas and at home.

"The cost was devastating. Scores of companies went out of business; we lost hundreds of thousands of jobs and we lost a significant portion of our capacity to product-at any price," said Suhadolc.

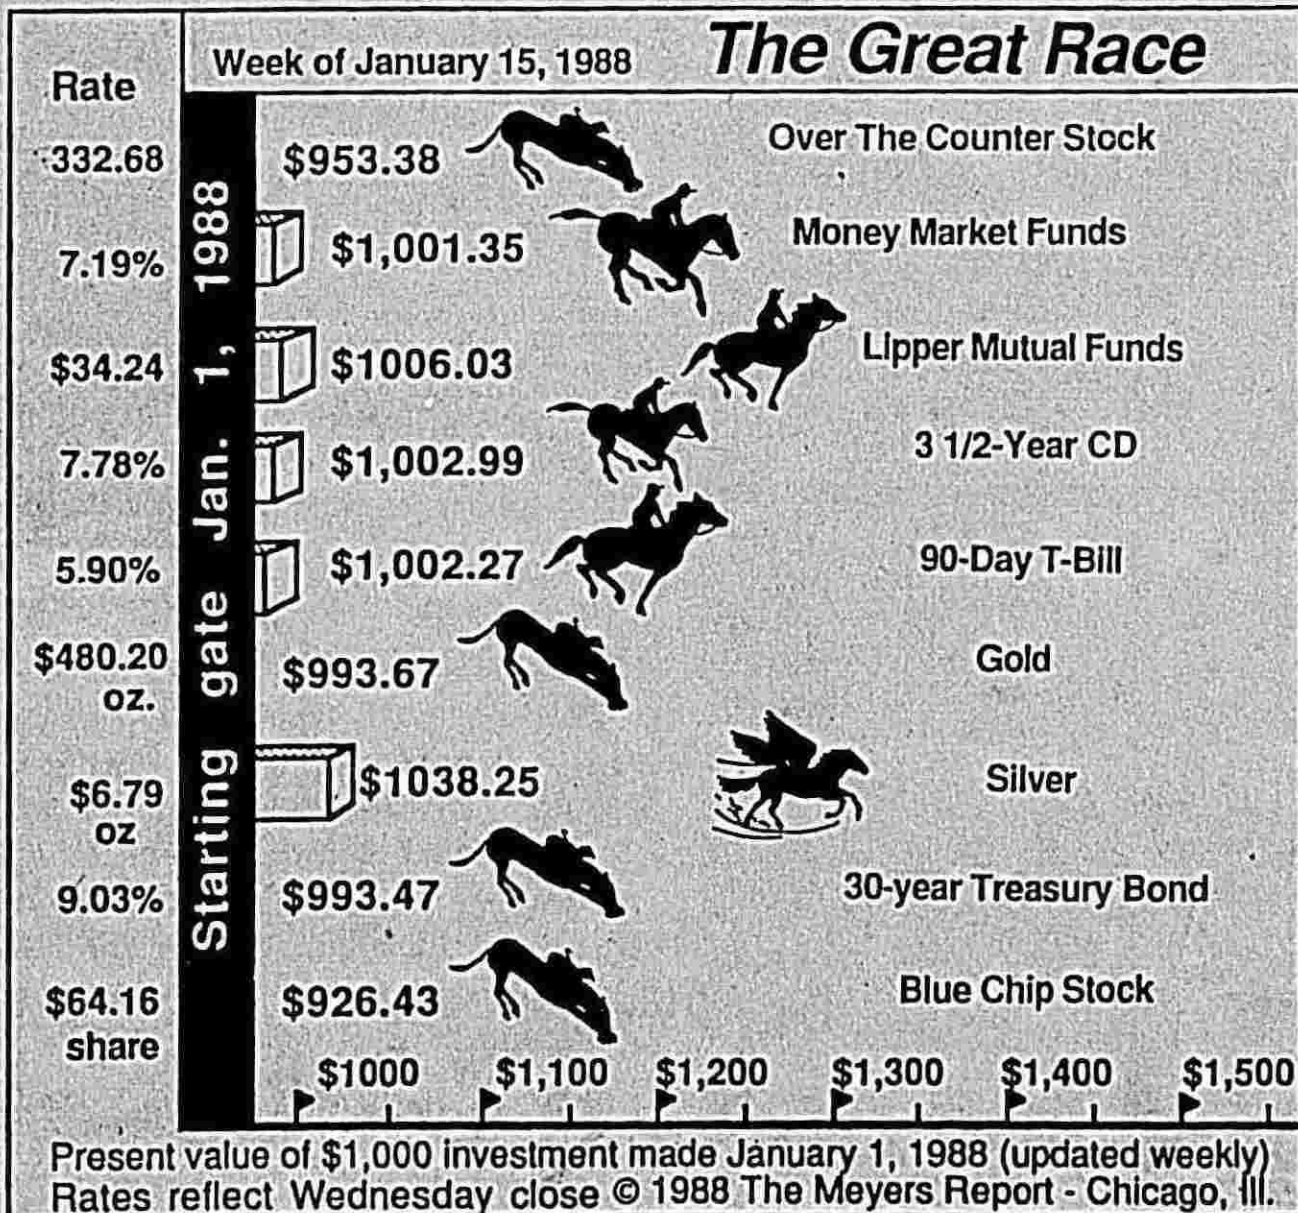

The tables could be turning. The lower dollar has given U.S. firms an opportunity to make a comeback.

"We can negate the advantages of other countries' cheap labor by being more efficient and developing skills that are beyond the capacities of our competitors' technology and labor skills," said Langenberg.

Cheap labor no longer should be enough to beat us. Shelby gives an example:

"We have two plants that manufacture pumps, the same product. One is in Brazil, which we inherited, and the other is in the state of Georgia. Our end cost for production is the same for both plants, despite the fact that our Rio plant has a labor cost of $3 an hour, versus $11 per hour here.

"The difference lies in Brazil's higher taxes, higher capital costs (borrowing), greater down-time (from shortages of (Continued on page 16) parts and skilled labor), higher shipping costs and cultural problems associated with foreign production that we simply do not have here."

Suhadolc suggests that manufacturers do their homework, keying in on their strengths rather than "just trying to beat cheap labor with cheap products."

For Suhadolc's firm, which manufactures parts for lamps and lighting fixtures, that meant going to a product that was beyond the skills of overseas producers.

"We realized that foreign manufacturers could not match our skilled finishes. Nor could they produce the large castings that our customers preferred," said Suhadolc. "We put that together with a marketing program that sold, and delivered, service and a quick response time to customer needs and fashion changes."

Nursing facility reduces daily rates

Saint Therese Medical Center has reduced the day rate of rooms in the Skilled Nursing Facility from $195 to $120 per day, according to Pamela J. Stoyanoff, director, financial management.

The $75 reduction is part of an aggressive strategy to keep the Skilled Nursing Facility (SNF) competitive with rates offered by area nursing homes and similar health care facilities. The facility offers distinct nursing advantages as it is a hospital-based unit.

SNF is designed specifically for the patient who has been released from an acute care unit, but is in need of nursing care at a skilled level, or during a long-term illness. SNF nurses monitor the patient's illness, as well as provide services, such as physical therapy. The patient resides at the Medical Center, and the length of the stays average 45 days or less.

Admission to the unit requires a physician's referral and is based on an assessment of the patient's needs, as well as the desires of both patient and family. The patient's care in SNF will continue to be followed by his or her personal physician.

The cost of care in this special nursing unit is usually less than that of an acute care setting. For more information on SNF services, call (312) 360-2170.

"The net result was that we beat the competition. But, we also gave up the low quality work and cheap items—both of which traditionally meant low profits."

Suhadolc's firm was one of the few in his industry that survived, let alone prospered, during an onslaught of foreign competition.

All of our interviews called for going back to basics—better quality products, better service and increased productivity from labor and management.

Shelby's firm specializes in rescuing troubled companies and saving jobs.

"In our turnarounds, we go for cost reductions, improved quality and productivity. We absolutely bring the unions in," said Shelby. "We go for lower base costs, but allow workers to earn more by producing more. Plus, we are willing to share with labor the benefits that come from a company that is more profitable because it is more productive and competitive. The net result is that workers and management all earn more—instead of struggling just to keep their jobs."

Pros offer stock tips to 'little' investors

by GARY S. MEYERS

Small investors generally remain shell-shocked in the aftermath of the Great Crash of '87. It's no wonder that the little players are at a loss, when the big players are scrambling.

"I believe we've been through a crash, not THE crash," said William Stanley, vice president for Shearson Lehman Brothers, based in Norwich, Conn.

Stanley, a 25-year market veteran who manages $200 million, compares today's market to a Broadway show. "From 1982 through 1987 the show was grand. But the show is over. Any gains we see in 1988 are merely encores," he commented.

Currently, Stanley is 100 percent invested in the stock market. But he predicts that by Valentine's Day the portfolio he manages will be 100 percent cash. "I'm ready to see everything at a moment's notice," he said.

Stanley's bearishness comes from his reading of the economic, political and social landscape. He compares the 1980s to the Roaring 20s, with government corruption, religious zealotry and economic upheaval.

"Whoever is elected president in November will be known as the next Herbert Hoover," he claimed.

While Stanley's stance must be considered carefully, other analysts are not nearly as bearish. In fact, one of Stanley's colleagues, Bruce Beardslee, co-director of equity research marketing for Shearson Lehman Brothers in New York, sees a slowdown for the economy, but no recession.

"Interest rates should decline for the first six months of 1988, creating a good environment for bonds and interest rate sensitive stocks," said Beardslee. "The Dow (Jones industrial average) should stay in a trading range between 1700 and 2300, with a bias toward the upper end."

Beardslee also recommends export-oriented stocks, like chemicals and paper goods, which can take advantage of the low dollar by selling goods abroad. "A slowdown in the U.S. economy should ease demand here, translating into less dastardly trade numbers and softening the landing for the dollar," he said.

This conservative outlook on the stock market was echoed by many of the analysts we spoke to.

"Don't be thrown off track by the volatility in the market," said Steve Drake, a broker with Philips, Fahy & Rockwell in Houston, Texas. "We feel that over the long term stocks are the place to be for investors who have money they don't need to touch any time soon."

If you are willing to brave the turbulent market, Drake suggests staying with conservative, blue-chip quality stocks like Pepsico and General Electric.

B & K announces industrial sale

Joseph Dillon, Principal, Bennett and Kahnweiler Inc., has announced the sale of an industrial building at 61 McMillen Rd. in Antioch.

The 135,000 square-foot single-story warehouse building was acquired by Malenkoff Enterprises, purchaser of discontinued product lines and provider of varied consumer goods. Malenkoff plans to consolidate three locations in this new Lake County warehouse facility. William Mortensen of Hawthorn Realty Group represented the buyer and Edward A. Laing, Senior Associate of B and K Inc., represented the seller, Quaker Industries.

Bennett and Kahnweiler Inc. is beginning its fifth decade as a full service real estate company active in office and industrial brokerage, development, property management, consultation, and finance. The firm has the capability to network in over 70 cities and nine countries through its affiliation with Colliers International Property Consultants.

Our 100 shares show a potential profit of $338, less the commission charge of $118.50. Look for this stock to make a good run up in the short term.

Air Wisc Inc., formerly Air Wisconsin, is the United Express carrier for the Midwest. We picked the stock the week before the crash "paying" $10.25 per share. After the crash, Air Wisc. fell to $8 per share. Since then the stock has rebounded to $11, a gain of $75 on our 100 shares. After accounting for commission, our current gain is $13.50.

Neither turnaround is spectacular, but it's better than a loss.

'Gatekeeper' theory looks largely at the price tag

Years ago, I became aware of how nightmarish it would be if the people in the ivory towers could direct medical care while remaining aloof from the consequences of their meddling.

Having dinner with a number of my classmates and their wives, I also met a visitor, a Dr. X. The talk, quite amiable, tended to avoid medical shop talk.

Our visitor began a topic that was apparently a sore point with him: doctors were subjecting their patients to too much x-ray radiation. He cited the number of negative x-rays to prove his point. It was amazing that he could give the latest figures, since I don't know how anybody could gather them that soon, or even at all.

I suggested mildly that if one only took the positive x-rays with something patients. I'm a physicist engaged in radiation research." We went back to discussing the Bears.

Which brings us to a number of Catch-22's that medical practice now faces. Anyone now practicing medicine is being called upon to act as a "gatekeeper," in effect being directed to make decisions in practice by people who "don't see patients" but are just as impractical as those suggested by Dr. X.

The directions are not only considerations of what these people think is good for the patient, but also predominantly are used to lower costs. By definition, this means the doctor should manage the patient in a cost effective manner.

As gatekeeper, he or she must stand between the patient and anything that might increase costs. The payer or third party (HMO, insurance company, employer) stresses avoiding hospital admission, avoiding treatment at all if possible, and definitely not to order any test that is expensive.

If it's beyond the doctor's field of expertise, it is usually recommended not to refer to a specialist. The doctor may be advised to take care of it himself, and "wait and see."

Medical theorists, impatient with the fact that their theories frequently don't work as planned, state bluntly that they won't manage patients. It's the doctors they'll manage, with rules and regulations.

Some third party carriers go even further. They may tell the doctor that if regulations are ignored (usually for the patient's welfare), extra expenses incurred will be charged to the doctor's annual payment. Another tack is to go so far as paying extra to the doctor's account if the regulations are observed.

These incentives save the insurer money, even if it overlooks the patient's health.

Many regulations have a catch-22, posing another threat. The doctor's malpractice carrier wants all those things done that the third-party payers discourage, because in court no excuse is acceptable if omitting them puts the patient in harm's way. Also, taking money (incentives in cash) not to treat a patient all the way is probably illegal. That's being worked on in Congress, so our poor doctor may be censured, jailed or lose a case in court.

In the latter event, the malpractice insurance carrier may stop insuring the doctor or make his premium so high that practicing medicine becomes impossible. If this sounds far-fetched, consider Dade and Broward Counties in Florida. It may cost a neurosurgeon as much as $250,958 a year; for an obstetrician, it can cost $198,179.

Musings: In Lake County, a drama is unfolding. The prenatal county clinic has closed for lack of obstetricians.

Perhaps it will be solved by the time this is printed; perhaps not. This is a county problem not lending itself to a simplistic answer. Any suggestion might be only a first step.

One such first step might be to have the county assume the cost of malpractice insurance for the obstetricians, not totally but proportionate to that part of the practice involving the clinic. I'm not sure the doctors will go for it. I'm not sure the county will, either.

Even if deemed impractical or politically unacceptable, this suggestion has a redeeming quality: It may blunt indignant finger pointing and start a dialogue leading to quiet consideration of this distressing problem.

Medical Musings

By Dr. Leo Tannenbaum

wrong, it would imply one knew what was wrong beforehand so none would have to be taken. He waved this off as being facetious, which it was. One of my friends tried to change the subject to the Bears. Since Dr. X didn't come from Chicago, he would have none of this. He began to recite the number of radiation units (rads) the patients were subjected to for chest, forearm, spine and skull.

"Dr. X," I said, "next time I am called out in the middle of the night to take care of an accident victim, I will call you for consultation. It will spare my patients unnecessary radiation."

"But doctor," he said, "I don't see

Medical group cites teens as next AIDS risk group

by IRIS MAYFIELD

The Illinois State Medical Society (ISMS) forecasts teens as the next wave of AIDS victims, and is urging community leaders to redouble educational efforts.

ISMS statistics forecast that, after the incidence of AIDS in the drug and homosexual communities, this reckless and fatal disease will next wring its toll through the teenage population.

Edward J. Fesco, M.D., president of the Illinois State Medical Society says that teen sex has been considered a moral issue, but now, "It must be considered a public health issue as well."

ISMS statistics show that roughly 45 percent of teens have had sex by the time they finish high school. Fesco said that sexuality is a high-pressure issue with teens.

"Everything that will sell in the community is sold with sex," he said, and celebrities such as Madonna help perpetuate a mythology about sex.

More than 22,000 Illinois teens gave birth in 1986, representing 12.5 percent of all births in the state. Further, at least 500 of the births were to girls 14 and under.

Across the country, one-third of all abortions are performed on teenage girls, and the incidence of sexually transmitted diseases is rising in the teen population.

ISMS's concern is that these statistics show a potentially large pool of teens who could be exposed through sexual activity to the AIDS virus. "And it is no longer solely a big city problem," said Fesco.

The ISMS and Dr. Fesco say the solution is early and complete sex education at home and in schools. "Sex education must first foster abstinence, by explaining the consequences of teen sex for Illinois youth," Fesco said.

Fesco emphasized the crucial role of the family in AIDS education and prevention. "As parents, it is our responsibility to help children come to grips with sexual decisions they will face—decisions that can change their lives forever," he said.

School-based sex education curricula should reinforce the parental role, he said, and help those teens who don't have strong family supporters.

To date, there have been 28 cases of AIDS in Lake County. Six of the victims are still living. In Chicago, there have been at least 15 cases of teenagers with AIDS.

The cost of treating each AIDS patient averages $50,000 to $100,000. Ultimately,

Fesco said, "The taxpayers are going to pay for this."

Two face bomb, weapons charges

Two Lake County men face weapons and explosive charges after Round Lake Beach police discovered them armed with homemade bombs last week.

Christopher Cozen, 19, of Wildwood and Roman Lenzen, 19, of Gurnee, were pulled over by police at Hainesville and Clarendon Rds. in the early morning hours for a traffic violation. The officers discovered three plastic pipe bombs and a jar of gunpowder with a fuse.

Lenzen and Cozen were taken to the police station and charged with possession of incendiary devices, unlawful possession of explosives, and unlawful use of a weapon.

Several hours later, police received a report that a pickup truck in the 1500 block of Elm St. had been damaged by a bomb thrown into its bed.

Upon questioning the suspects further, police discovered that one had dated the daughter of the truck's owner. The two were then also charged with arson.

Both were released on $15,000 recognizance bonds, with a court date of Jan. 20.

Gus Giordano Dance Beat in action

Urban Gateways sponsors Jazz Dance Beat

Urban Gateways: The Center for Arts in Education will sponsor a performance of "Gus Giordano Dance Beat" at St. Francis de Sales School in Lake Zurich on Friday, Jan. 22, in the afternoon.

Gus Giordano's Jazz Dance Chicago's distinctive, powerful style is known to audiences across the United States and around the world. The "Gus Giordano Jazz Dance Beat" begins with a brief history of ballet, modern, jazz and tap with dancers demonstrating warm-up and technique needed for each different art form.

Then, beginning with the birth of jazz in the 1920's, the dancers move into a decade-by-decade progression of jazz. The program closes with a question and answer period.

Urban Gateways is the most comprehensive organization of its kind in the country and has been called the "Metropolitan Museum of Arts in Education" by the National Endowment for the Arts. The organization was recently recognized with a Governor's Award for the Arts by the Illinois Arts Council.

Urban Gateways sponsors performances and workshops of dance, music, drama and visual arts in more than 750 schools throughout the Chicago metropolitan area each year to enhance learning and student motivation.

Says Urban Gateways Executive Director Ronne Hartfield, "More than 750,000 students, teachers and parents see Urban Gateways-sponsored performances each year. The best part is that, not only are students learning more as a result of the influence of the arts, but Urban Gateways is creating future patrons of the arts. These youngsters will someday be the adults who support our symphonies, ballet companies, art museums and other arts organizations."

Hartfield noted that Urban Gateways, the state's largest employer of artists, does more than simply send an artist to a school to perform.

"School staff receive a comprehensive package of educational materials for each performance," she said. "Teachers share the information with students before the performance to insure maximum intellectual benefit, understanding and enjoyment."

"Urban Gateways is more than single in-school performances," Hartfield said. "For instance, we sponsor out-of-school trips to major arts institutions in Chicago, such as to the Auditorium Theatre and the new Regal Theatre for matinee performances by nationally-known artists."

"We also provide artists-in-residence at the schools, artists of a particular discipline who stay at a school for several weeks to help students grow and develop in a particular area, whether it be visual art, music or something else," Hartfield said.

Urban Gateways is a nonprofit organization sponsored by foundations, corporations, government agencies and individuals. For more information about Urban Gateways, call (312) 922-0440.

"Frank is perfect as Tevye, with a big voice and winsome manner," said Jamison.

Zion Chamber Orchestra, under the musical direction of Timothy Allen, is responsible for the production of the show, as part of its 10th Anniversary Season.

"The orchestra couldn't have picked a better showcase for the talents of the community," said Jamison.

Sportsmen to flock to annual outdoors show

Rolling back into the O'Hare Expo Center for its second appearance at the Chicagoland Sport Fishing, Travel & Outdoors Show, Larry Richter's 42-foot "Hawg Trough" will be the scene of live fishing demonstrations several times each day from Jan. 29 through Feb. 7.

The "Trough," a glass-and-steel tank resting on a trailer the size of an 18-wheeler, will be stocked with hundreds of fish. Large- and smallmouth bass, walleye, yellow bass, bluegill, channel catfish and northern pike will attempt to dodge the lures of such experts as Richter, Dave Dsanda, Dan Creely, Al Lindner and other speakers from the show's seminar series. All demonstrations are free and presented courtesy of SportMart.

"Our audiences were fascinated by the 'Trough' last year," said show manager Ellen Farley Melko. "Seeing the fishing cycle from the fish's viewpoint is valuable even to the most seasoned angler, because it allows you to see how the fish actually behaves during the fishing process. After all, how often does anyone observe this process firsthand from an 'underwater' perspective?" Harvesting the fish for these demonstrations has been a major project in itself, undertaken by the Illinois Dept. of Conservation, Commonwealth Edison and Southern Illinois University. Starting in mid-October, 1987, hundreds of fish were gathered from the Fox Chain O'Lakes, Heidecke Lake (southeast of Morris, Ill.) and LaSalle Lake. They are being held at the Spring Grove and Jake Wolf Memorial fish hatcheries prior to delivery at the show.

Exhibits at the show include 261 fishing equipment manufacturers and 400 travel exhibitors, plus marine dealers, retailers, clubs and educational displays. Among the special attractions are 12 main stage fishing seminars, presented by the Chicago Sun-Times and Budweiser; 15 special session seminars, sponsored by Mercury Outboards and Berwyn Marine Center, Inc.; a 70-foot casting pond and a trout pond.

Show hours are 1:30 to 10 p.m. weekdays; 9 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Saturdays; and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sundays.

Admission is $5.50 for adults, $2 for children six to 12, and free for children five and under.

The O'Hare Expo Center is located on River Rd. in Rosemont, next door to the Hyatt Regency O'Hare Hotel.

Fishermen's 'Hawg Heaven'

Angling demonstrations by Larry Richter, upper right, and others at Richter's 42-foot 'Hawg Trough' will be offered several times each day from Jan. 29 through Feb. 7 at Chicagoland Sport Fishing, Travel and Outdoors Show to be held at O'Hare Expo Center. The glass and steel tank, well-stocked with a variety of fish, will allow visitors a 'fish eye view' of casting and retrieving.

Lakeland CINEMA ★★★★★ Review

"Broadcast" Focuses On Fascinating Triangle

✓ Bill Dotson

Reviewing a film like "Broadcast News" presents a challenge. What can you say about it that hasn't already been said by the bald guy and the chubby guy, as well as every other critic on Earth? All the great adjectives ("wonderful, witty, entertaining," etc.) have already been taken. So I'll have to be careful to avoid becoming the Joe Biden of movie critics while presenting my thoughts on "Broadcast News."

Unfortunately, the heaping praise the film has been receiving from critics has begun to have a negative effect. People are now coming away from it disappointed, saying "It's ok, but I don't see why everyone's saying it's the greatest thing since sliced bread." Such is the danger of too much praise, and that's too bad, because it is an outstanding movie.

A friend avoided it, saying he was a big fan of the original, "Network". The two both deal with tv news, but while "Network" went way over the top with its biting funny satire, "Broadcast News" is grounded a little closer to reality in its story of the fascinating relationship between three co-workers in the Washington bureau of a network news department.

"Broadcast News" is an inside look at tv news, directed by James L. Brooks, whose previous big hit was "Terms of Endearment" (which, frankly, struck me as little more than an overblown ad for Kleenex). William Hurt stars as an anchorman smart enough to know his shortcomings, Albert Brooks is the talented, frustrated reporter, jealous of Hurt, and Holly Hunter is the career-driven producer drawn to them both.

I have yet to see Hurt make a bad movie. Albert Brooks is a gifted comic actor who doesn't make enough movies. His "Lost In America" from 1985 was terrific. Hunter, in her 1st big role, holds her own with these 2 stars beautifully.

The various showdowns that develop between these 3 range from hilarious to thoughtful as they clash on issues of love, career, and ethics. One of my favorites is where Brooks tells Hunter that Hurt is really the devil.

There's also a devilishly clever cameo appearance by one of Hollywood's biggest stars as the network's number 1 anchorman.

Despite a highly unsatisfying ending, I give this movie thumbs-uh, I mean- go see it. It's good.

Turn "Broadcast" On- But Don't Turn It Up

✓ Dan Becker

Deemed as a paradigmatical composition of awe-inspiring artwork, "Broadcast News" is rather a valid orchestration of cinematographical exposition. Simply stated, it's good, not great.

Receiving nominations for best picture, best actor, best actress and best everything for the Golden Globe, and rave reviews from every Siskel and Ebert under the sun, the movie has been made a golden standard for others. If it becomes as such, the movie industry will have lowered its criteria.

Delving into the lives and careers of contemporary broadcast news professionals, "Broadcast News" displays the fast-paced, and often traumatic situations involving the personnel in charge of telecasting noteworthy material on a blank television screen. As ever-changing and hectic as the profession is, so are the personal lives of the characters.

William Hurt portrays weekend anchorman Tom Grunick, ignorant of current events, on a national network. "I can read the news, sell the news, but I don't understand it most of the time," says Grunick. Deserving of remedial reporting classes, Grunick promotes himself to the viewers as a knowledgeable anchor of the network. Grunick, as all of the characters do, undergoes a self-realization of the situation, and strives to become the omniscient anchorman the viewers believe him to be. His "unethical shortcut" provides the viewers with an outstanding story, yet it collapses the sporadic, personal relationship with his executive producer, Jane Craig, played by Holly Hunter.

Hunter gives an outstanding performance as the high-strung, "obsessive" and dominant Craig. Craig and Grunick work like a well-oiled machine in the newsroom, but their personal relationship intermittently jams and never gets out of first gear. Craig is usually the one grinding the clutch. Craig's long-time friend and confidante Aaron Altman, played by Albert Brooks, have a relationship like that of a young girl and her teddy bear...weathered, but strong.

Altman strives for both the weekend anchor position and Craig's love, but fails in both. Brooks' portrayal of the lost-love character is true-to-life, and one cannot help but feel sorry for him.

Wedding show stealers

Stealing the show at Wedding Expo '88 on Sunday were Annisa Adams and Casey Mullen as they modeled flower girl and ring bearer outfits from Claudines Bridal Gallery in Libertyville and Henry's Formalwear of Waukegan.

850 guests enjoy Expo, Wilkinson wins big prize

According to Debbie Mullen, of Debbie's Floral of Mundelein, sponsor of the show along with Lakeland Newspapers and the Dancin' Machine II, about 850 people enjoyed all parts of the Wedding Expo.

When the fashion show began at 1:30 p.m., there was more than a full house to ooh and aah at the lovely wedding fashions, with some of the audience left standing.

Not only were those that attended richer for the wedding planning information they garnered from the show and the merchants displaying their wares, but the audience seemed to greatly enjoy joining in, especially when Rick Rolland of Dancin' Machine got them on their feet clapping.

The grand prize winner was Kim Wilkinson of Mundelein who took home certificates good for $350 in formalwear rentals from Henry's, $350 in wedding flowers from Debbie's and $100 for limousine rental from Crystal Limousine, $800 in total prizes.

The finale of the show, done to Aretha Franklin's "Freeway of Love" which mentions a pink Cadillac, was all in pink (including the bride) with the bridesmaids carrying clusters of pink balloons instead of flowers. The crowd cheered when they released the balloons.

Ixtapa-Zihuatanejo the new Acapulco

by JIM WARNKEN
President, North Star Travel, Inc.

Just north of the well-known city of Acapulco is quietly emerging a new place in the sun. This newest Mexican vacation destination is known as Ixtapa-Zihuatanejo.

Let's first learn how to pronounce this newfound getaway. Ixtapa-Zihuatanejo is really two towns. High school Spanish may help with Ixtapa (es-stop-pa is close enough). Zihuatanejo is another story. The "in" crowd just calls it "Z-What." (Try z-want-it-nag-wo.)

Fifteen years ago, Ixtapa was mostly mangrove swamps and Zihuatanejo was a fishing village. Today Zihuatanejo is still a fishing village, but now it's got electricity, water and phone service. Ixtapa, on the other hand, boasts some of the most luxurious hotels in the world.

I guess that's part of the appeal of this sister village resort. You have the jet set lifestyle of Ixtapa, yet only four miles away is the sleepy little town of "Z-what."

Most hotels of Ixtapa are located on the beach. Few, however, have private beaches since Mexican law says beaches must be public. This has caused these beach front inns to construct the most fabulous, and in some cases the most outrageous swimming pools to be found anywhere. You'll find swim-up bars, water-slides, arched bridges and fountains.

Suggested hotels? The Krystal is a good bet for the young or young at heart. The Camino Real, built into a hillside, is a real work of art, with balconies the size of the rooms themselves. Set off by itself is Club Med. This one even has a miniclub for the kids.

Restaurants? The Dolphin on Ixtapa Island is the place for red snapper. Bogart's is the "dress-up" eatery in town. Villa de la Selva has the atmosphere, though the food is nothing special. Good Mexican food is hard to find! The best bet would be the main restaurant in the El Presidente Hotel.

Things to do: Take a drive up the coast to Playa Quieta. From there, you can get a boat to Ixtapa Island, about 10 miles offshore. You can also take a boat to Las Gatas Beach, still part of the mainland, but accessible only by boat. You'll find some great open air seafood stands there as well as some very friendly Mexicans.

You'll have no choice but to end the day with a sight you'll long remember: an Ixtapa sunset.

Critic's Choice In... Lakeland 'Mary, Mary' not contrary enough

by AMANDA METZEL

Can a divorced couple who get together to take care of business possibly conduct themselves in a practical, objective manner?

In Jean Kerr's comedy, "Mary, Mary," the post-marital relationship between Bob and Mary McKellaway (Harry Bartlett and Dena Fabry) turns out to be their biggest piece of unfinished business. The play, directed by Tom Hausman, is the first in Rosebud Production's winter series at Andres Steakhouse in Richmond.

Bob and Mary find they have more than tax questions to deal with when they get together at Bob's apartment one winter weekend. In the nine months since the divorce, Bob has become engaged to the spoiled, somewhat ditzy Tiffany (Colleen Jordan), and Mary has blossomed out of a nondescript, insecure existence and become more confident and attractive.

Beneath their outward changes, however, many issues are still unresolved within themselves and between each other. Memories are stirred fondly as they recall where certain checks were written, but any sentimentality quickly gives way to a steady exchange of barbs as old wounds are reopened. The war escalates when Mary is forced by circumstance to spend the night at Bob's apartment, even though she has a date with Bob's neighbor and former school chum, Dirk Winston (Lou Jones), a fading actor of the he-man genre.

Jones gives a stellar performance as the worldly, slightly jaded movie star. In a few instances he seemed to carry the scene single-handedly, adjusting his character's actions and reactions to synchronize with the poor timing of other cast members.

In several instances, what presumably were supposed to be humorous exchanges between characters drew no response whatever from the audience, maybe showing a lack of proper comedy timing.

Bartlett and Fabry are at times not too convincing as the formerly married couple, due largely to Fabry's tendency to get the characters of Mary McKellaway and "Mary Sunshine" mixed-up.

At times one wonders whether this is the aftermath of a marriage or a trip on the Good Ship Lollipop.

Larry Bersie gives a comfortable performance as Oscar Nelson, a friend and tax attorney who, with his eyes wide open, provides a sounding board for each of the McKellaways.

"Mary, Mary" runs weekends through the end of January.

As usual, Andre's serves a palate-pleasing dinner before the show.

Have a drink!

Colleen Jordan as Tiffany, pours special health cocktail for Larry Bersie as Oscar and Harry Bartlett as Bob in Rosebud Production's dinner show, "Mary, Mary," running at Andres Dinner Theatre in Richmond.

'You Can't Take It' to open on Jan. 22

Northbrook Theatre will present the vintage Moss Hart-George S. Kaufman comedy, "You Can't Take It With You" on the last two weekends of January and first weekend of February at the Leisure Center Auditorium, 3323 Walters Ave., Northbrook.

Set in the 1930s, the play depicts what happens when Tony, attractive son of the Kirbys, falls in love with Alice Sycamore and brings his parents to dine at the Sycamore home...but on the wrong night.

Amidst exploding fireworks and visits from the FBI, IRS and a Russian countess, the Kirbys become converts to the laid-back style of the Sycamores.

Performances will take place at 8 p.m. Jan. 22, 23, 29 and 30, Feb. 5 and 6 and at 3 p.m. Jan. 24, 31 and Feb. 7. All seats are reserved.

Tickets cost $6 in advance and may be purchased Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Leisure Center Performing Arts office. Tickets at the door cost $7. For more information call (312)291-2367.

ATTACK HEART DISEASE BEFORE IT ATTACKS YOU.

Many people don't know they have heart disease until they have a heart attack.

During winter, cold temperatures constrict arteries which carry blood to the heart, making the heart work harder. Combined with the physical stress of shoveling snow, the possibility of heart attack increases.

A Cardiac Risk Profile may help you prevent a heart attack. The Profile includes a thorough physical examination by one of our doctors, an EKG (electrocardiogram) which measures the action of the heart muscle, and an SMA 24, a blood test which measures cholesterol, triglycerides and other blood components.

Based on the results from your examination and tests, our doctors will recommend a plan to help reduce your risk for heart disease. The Profile is available now through March 30 for only $49.

Please call the number below to make an appointment.

THIS WEEK'S

HOROSCOPE

BY SALOME
Weekly Tip: Be nice to strangers.

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr 19) If you've got the post-holiday partum blues, why not get together with near and dear friends for a party? It's sure to lift the spirits of all involved.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) The dark cloud which has been hanging over your head can easily be lifted with the help of family. Your workload is building, so get cracking now.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Finances have been rough lately (to say the least), but things seem to be getting better. Don't, however, jump the gun and going on a wild spree.

Cancer (June 21-Jul 20) The bumpiness in your new relationship will soon find a way to smooth itself out. Be understanding now if someone needs a shoulder to lean on.

Leo (Jul 21-Aug. 22) The demands on you are great now, but your strong character should be able to carry you through even the roughest spots. Keep up the optimism.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) New faces are bombarding you from all directions; soak up the information you can from these people. Your love life should not be neglected now.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) There are unbelievable possibilities concerning that shaky financial deal. Make sure your investigative work is thorough so that it can pay off big.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Your fuse seems to have grown short as of late, and people are getting tired of walking on eggshells around you. You had better loosen up, or else!

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) If things seem confusing to you on the homefront, rest assured this is only a temporary condition. Get out with your friends for some relaxation.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You need a good laugh right about now, so grab a good buddy and party it up. By keeping your eyes open, many questions will be answered.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) You may be full of self doubt now, but you can pull yourself out of this by proving your abilities to yourself. Others do not matter in this situation.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) Your strong convictions have brought you trouble on more than one occasion, but it's always best to back down where the boss is concerned!

If you were born this week, it's best to always remember where your roots are. You see, chances are you will see many foreign lands in your lifetime, so don't ever forget where your home is. You'll most likely achieve a fair amount of success this way.

Fun outdoor activities abound in our area

The weekend of Jan. 23-24 schedules the Winter Carnival at Rock Cut State Park near Rockford, on Pierce Lake. The park has had its share of past disappointments and re-dating, due to weather, but signals are on "go" this year for the many outdoor activities scheduled.

Sponsored by the Illinois Dept. of Conservation, Rock Cut is an outstanding example of winter usage in state parks and attracts thousands of participants and onlookers. Just a few miles northeast of Rockford, it can be reached from Rte. 173...a pleasant drive from our area.

Featured this year is the Midwest Dog Assn.'s competition with supervised dog team races beginning Saturday at 10 a.m. Some 40 teams from five states will compete over courses ranging from three to nine miles. Cross Country Skiing competitions, demonstrations and classes will be ongoing both days, along with ice fishing, skating, ice and snow sculpting, "anything on sleds," colorful and massive kite flying, football and well, you name it.

Refreshments, bonfires and warming tents are available on site, with housing nearby Rockford for the weekenders. About 40,000 visitors are expected, weather cooperating. It's a popular destination for winter RV'ers. For details, call (815) 885-3311.

Those who stay at home, however, will find the 20th Annual RV Show at Rosemont Expo Center very informative this year. Free seminars on use, care and purchasing of equipment flood the five-day exposition. The show runs Jan. 20-24. Adult admission is $4. Doors open weekdays at 1 p.m. and weekends at 11 a.m. The 300 vehicles and camping equipment on display make it the Midwest's largest show of its type.

There are 66,000 acres of Cook County Forest Preserves calling those who enjoy winter activities such as ice fishing, skating, cross country skiing, tobogganing, snowmobiling and hiking. For information and locations of active sport areas, call district headquarters at (312) 366-4920.

In preparation for the outdoors, the Land of Illini Outdoor Show, at Pheasant Run Jan. 21-24, is packed with educational sessions. More than 100 displays provide recreational destinations for individual and family interests.

Not only for the average person, this production features interests for the physically disabled sportsman. The $3 admission is supplemented by free parking. It's a show you can't afford to miss.

John Eastwold, one of a dozen seminar leaders, is from Bull Shoals, Ark. He's a distinguished outdoor host who taught us a few facts about trout fishing on the White River and bass fishing in 35 feet of water last fall. Registration prizes are plentiful. Doors open weekdays at 2 p.m. and weekends at 10 a.m. It's the newest total outdoor sport show in suburbia.

Chicagoland's largest Sport Fishing, Travel and Outdoor Show opens next Friday, Jan. 29 for a 10-day stint at O'Hare Expo Center in Rosemont. It offers extensive presentations for travel, vacation and supplies needed by the outdoorsman.

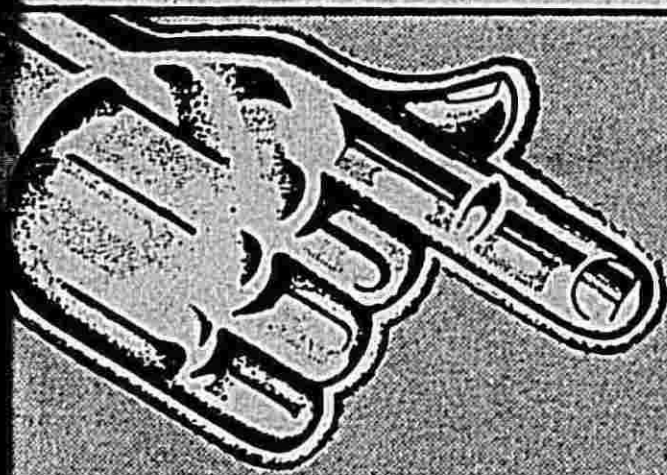

Fishing equipment is featured by 261 manufacturers. Some 400 travel exhibitors offer destinations. Show opens at 1:30 p.m. weekdays and 9 a.m. weekends. Adult admission is $5.50, children $2.

Education pays

Parent Infant Center opens doors at Libertyville site

The Parent Infant Center, an arm of the Special Education Dist. of Lake County, will preview its new quarters in Libertyville at an open house Tuesday, Jan. 26.

The center, which provides educationally-oriented diagnostic and therapeutic services to young children with special needs, was flooded out of its original Gurnee location by the Des Plaines River in fall of 1986. After a difficult transitional year, the program has relocated to Parkview Plaza, 1585 N. Milwaukee Ave., Libertyville.

The facility will be open to the public from 3:30 to 7:30 p.m. on Jan. 26.

The center annually provides services, free of charge, to about 600 families with children diagnosed as premature or having cerebral palsy, Down's syndrome, and milder developmental delays. Services are provided by a parent-infant educator, occupational therapist, physical therapist, speech and language pathologist, and educational psychologist.

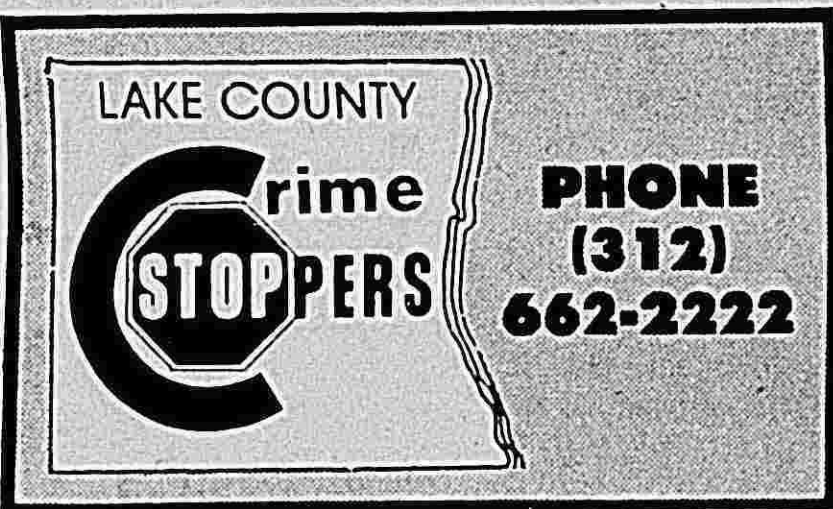

Psychiatric consultations are also provided. In some cases, home-based service is rendered to children with severe medical conditions or to families with no means of transportation. Children are also seen in branch locations throughout the county to ease family transportation problems.

Additionally, the Parent Infant Center offers Lekotek, a toy lending library that encourages development through play, and a variety of parenting courses through the Warren-Newport Library.

Since it is part of the public school system, the program facilitates a child's entrance into an early childhood classroom or other appropriate service when the child turns three. Psycho-educational testing is provided prior to placement in special education programs.

The State of Illinois is presently focusing attention on providing early intervention services. The Parent Infant Center is serving as a model for provision of those services.

For further information, call (312) 816-3010.

CLC's Infantino contributes to book

College of Lake County philosophy professor Steve Infantino has written a chapter for a new book, "Fireball and the Lotus: Emerging Spirituality from Ancient Roots," published by Bear & Company of New Mexico. Infantino contributed the chapter titled "The Principle of Complementarity and World Religions."

The book examines the roots of contemporary religious experience and offers interpretation of current trends and emerging new visions of spirituality. Blending traditions of East and West, old and new, the book's unique dialogue points to a planetary spirituality for the future.

The book was edited by Ron Miller and Jim Kenney, both faculty members at Lake Forest College. Both men are involved in Common Ground, a fellowship of Christians and Jews in northern Illinois that has been studying religious trends in America for 15 years.

For more information about "Fireball and the Lotus," contact Bear & Company at (505) 983-5968; or call Infantino at (312) 223-6601 ext. 560.

Trustee Paull stands by 'scuz bag' designations

Fox Lake Trustee Margaret Paull isn't backing down on her characterization of some Branch Court visitors as "scuz bags." Paull also isn't backing off either on efforts to accommodate court needs without Fox Lake taxpayers holding the bag for remodeling costs to provide space for growing Fox Lake offices and court requirements. Never known as a shrinking violet, the outspoken Paull declared:

"I'm standing on my statement about 'scuz bags.' What else can you call people who write on the walls with human waste, plug sinks and toilets and throw cigarette butts on the lobby floor?"

Paul's now noted description of visitors to the court operated in Fox Lake by the Lake County Circuit Court came about during a village council discussion on pressing space needs and whether Fox Lake should have the court transferred elsewhere.

The Circuit Court maintains a system of branch courts around Lake County as a convenience to citizens arrested for traffic and other minor violations, and police officers. The county pays rents for the facilities which include office space for court aides.

Fox Lake trustees have an estimate for remodeling needs running in excess of $100,000.

"The question boils down to whether Fox Lake taxpayers should have to incur this kind of expense," Paull pointed out. "Or should we ask the county to relocate the court?"

In an interview with Lakeland Newspapers, Paull answered her own question.

For the immediate future, the court will remain in Fox Lake and clerical space will be arranged in the Fox Lake Village Hall to provide space for both court clerks and village personnel.

Space rearrangements were worked out, according to Paull, during a visit to Fox Lake of Chief Circuit Court Judge Fred Geiger and Circuit Court Clerk Sally Coffelt.

"They understand the situation. They were wonderful," declared Paull.

Trustee Paull clarified the amount of income Fox Lake receives from the county for rental of its council chambers for the court dates.

"It's $50 per day and the annual income runs about $5,000, not $30,000 as reported," Paull declared.

The village also has a savings in overtime and travel paid police officers for court appearances amounting to about $8,000 per year. "The real advantage to Fox Lake having the branch court is around $13,000 per year," Paull asserted.

If it was necessary to relocate the branch court, there is a possibility that neighboring municipalities using the facility might have to share in the cost, Trustee Paull reported.

"I'd hate to see that. I don't think it's necessary to assess Antioch, or Round Lake Beach or any of the other nearby villages. But I don't want to see our taxpayers get stuck, either," Paull asserted.

For the time being, offices will be rearranged and the branch court for northwest Lake County will remain in Fox Lake, "scuz bags" and all.

Chinese magicians, acrobats set appearance at Genesee

To quote but a few of the critics, the Chinese Golden Dragon Acrobats and Magicians of Taipei are "incredible," "breathtaking," "stunning," and "quite unbelievable." The acrobats continue to take the world by storm as they begin their sixth full year of touring.

The Chinese Golden Dragon Acrobats and Magicians of Taipei will appear at the Genesee Theatre, 205 N. Genesee, Waukegan, at 8 p.m. on March 16.

The Wednesday night audience can look forward to more than a glimpse into the fascinating Orient. The evening will be packed with sensational acrobatics, comedy, balancing feats, Kung Fu and magic.

The grace and precision of the acrobats are the triumph of years of dedicated training and discipline, but their art was formed by centuries of tradition. Chinese acrobatics were created and performed in China as far back as 200 B.C., and have always been an integral part of the Chinese culture and the arts.

Past tours have taken members of the Chinese Golden Dragon Acrobats and Magicians of Taipei through South and Central America, Southeast Asia, South Africa, England, Canada and the United States.

Tickets for this family show are available at the Genesee Theatre Box Office, 205 N. Genesee St., Waukegan. Prices are $9, $12 and $15 for adults, and $4 for children with an adult. Call (312) 336-0428 for more information.

Hess gives guidelines for absentee voting

Lake County Clerk Linda Hess has released a calendar of important dates pertaining to absentee voting for the March primary election.

Thursday, Feb. 4, is the first day for absentee voting, in the person or by mail, in the County Clerk's office, 18 N. County St., Waukegan. The last day for the office to receive a ballot by mail is March 10; the last day to cast an absentee ballot in person at the clerk's office is March 14.

Monday, Feb. 22, is the first day for municipal and township clerk's offices to conduct in-person absentee voting. The last day is Monday, March 14.

Thursday, March 10, is the last day for the County Clerk's office to receive an application for a ballot to be mailed, as it is also the last day the office will mail an absentee ballot to voters.

March 10 is also the first day that a qualified voter who is admitted to the hospital not more than five days before the election may apply for an absentee ballot to be delivered in person.

In-person voting will be conducted at nursing homes on Monday, March 14.

Because this is a primary election, voters must choose the application for the ballot they wish to vote—Democratic, Republican or non-partisan. An Illinois Solidarity ballot will also be provided by the County Clerk's office; as there are no candidates on the ballot, the voter will have to write in choices.

For further information, call the absentee voting department at the County Clerk's office, (312)360-5912.

College of Lake County eyes annexation to Grayslake

by STEVE PETERSON

The College of Lake County may soon be in the Grayslake village limits.

The CLC Board of Trustees Tuesday night passed a resolution which calls for the administration and staff to work with "a sense of urgency" with Grayslake to prepare necessary annexation documents. If all goes well, the agreement would then be presented to the CLC Board for approval.

Grayslake Mayor Ed Schroder, Asst. Village Manager Mike Ellis and Wally Stang all discussed

Grayslake with the board.

"As soon as possible," Ellis said when asked for a timetable on the annexation.

Ellis said the exact services which would need to be extended to the college have not yet been a subject of discussion.

Ellis said the village officials discussed the capabilities of Grayslake in serving the two-year college.

"We talked about services and the status of the community," Ellis said.

"Annexing the college would be a matter of prestige," Mayor Schroeder said.

Schroeder discussed Grayslake's future growth.

College of Lake County President Daniel LaVista said he hopes work on the agreement can begin immediately.

"We had an excellent discussion and now it is a matter of doing the staff work," LaVista said.

LaVista declined to discuss specifics of a possible agreement. He did say that the annexation proposal has been "in the system for a number of years."

Schroeder will address upcoming AARP meeting

American Assn. of Retired Persons, Grayslake Chapter 2691, will meet Jan. 25 at 1 p.m. in the community room on Hawley St. Grayslake's Mayor Ed Schroeder will be the guest speaker.

president; June Greene, vice-president; Florence Madsen, secretary and Ruth Notson, treasurer. Serving on the board of directors are Betty Newcomb, Anne Meyer, Florence McKay, Emily Wasilowski and Julia Wojlarowicz.

Sequoits aim to upset 'Devils

Antioch basketball coach Don Zeman knows that if the Sequoits are to record an upset win at Warren Jan. 22, one aspect of the game will be the most important factor.

"Warren is an excellent rebounding team. We will have to not make mistakes and play one of our best games to beat them. Rebounding will be the key," Zeman said.

Antioch comes into the game against the traditional rivals with a 4-4 record in the North Suburban Conference, 5-10 overall. Game time is 7:30 p.m. at Warren's new gym.

Antioch will have to stop Warren's Derek Shelton, the point guard who directs the offense. Matt Lingenfelter, also a senior, started last week averaging more than 14 points a game.

The Sequoits learned a rebounding lesson the hard way against Zion-Benton. After beating Fenton 65-57, Antioch fell at Zion 79-62 as the Zee-Bees recorded a 36-14 edge in rebounds.

"They had 14 offensive rebounds and put up seven for baskets," Zeman said of Zion.

The Sequoits stayed with the host Zee-Bees for two and one-half quarters. Antioch trailed 29-24 at halftime and came as close as one point in the third quarter.

But that was when Zion unleashed a 14-for-18 shooting spree from the field en route to a 30-point third quarter.

Center Paul Anderson led Antioch with 21 points. "He did an excellent job in the post and we got the ball to him," Zeman said.

Scott Gooch contributed 11.

Antioch 65, Fenton 57.

The Sequoits held their "Pack The Place" promotion and all went according to plan.

"We had a larger crowd because of the 'Pack The Place' promotion and it was an enthusiastic crowd," Zeman said.

The Sequoits have the home fans something to cheer about early.

"We came out and applied pressure pretty well. We wanted to keep the pressure on them," Zeman said.

Antioch led 12-7 after one and 32-17 at halftime. The Sequoits built up a 25-point cushion by the fourth quarter. Zeman let the subs finish the game but was disappointed that the Bison outscored the second stringers 19-2.

Bill Letkey led the hosts with 15 points and Gooch scored 11.

"Letkey came in off the bench and really gave us a lift," Zeman said.

DR. PAUL ABLER

THOSE BLISTERS?

Itchy, weeping blisters on the feet are commonly caused by atopic dermatitis. When the itchy spot is scratched, the skin becomes spongy and "weeps." Most cases occur in infants or children, then can recur in late childhood, adolescence or early adult life.

In addition to conducting a thorough examination of the lesions, your podiatrist will want to know how long they've been present and whether there's a family history of allergies.

In many cases, patients with atopic dermatitis are advised to avoid certain foods and medications, and are treated with applications of corticosteroid creams. Your podiatrist will probably advise that you avoid overwashing and overuse of soap on the feet, which can dry out the skin, making it more irritable, and may prescribe antibiotics for infections that may occur.

Waukegan East and West will tangle in a crosstown rival game. Feb. 10 has been set for the title contest and the right to continue playing at Waukegan East.

At Lake Zurich, the Bears start the tournament by hosting Buffalo Grove. Barrington and Wheeling clash in game two with the title game Feb. 11. The winner moves on to the Maine South regional.

Gymnasts win awards

The Class IV girls gymnastics team of the Gymnastics Spot in Mundelein took the second place trophy at the Rockford Gymnastic Academy Candy Cane Classic on Jan. 2. Coaches Julie Dumbacher of Lake Villa and Mary Joe Burke of Arlington Heights accompanied the team.

In the seven and eight-year-old division, Cathy Seiz of Gurnee won first-place medals on both the uneven parallel bars (7.50) and balance beam (8.45). Seiz took third place medal on the vault (7.05) and second place on floor exercise (8.9) and all-around (31.3). Teammate Tracy Forster of Libertyville won a second place medal on the vault (7.55) and third on the bars (7.15) and all-around (28.45). Forster also won ribbons for the beam (6.9) and the floor exercise (7.15).

In the nine to 11-year-old division, Liz Novacek of Mundelein captured fifth place in the all-around (31.75) as well as fourth on the bars (8.2), fifth on the beam (8.15), all-around (30.95) and was seventh on both vault (7.5) and bars (8.0). Seventh place all-around honors went to Christy Holik of Gurnee who also placed third on the floor (8.45) and sixth on the beam (8.1). Erin Sona of Mundelein took 10th place on the all-around (30.3), eighth on the bars (7.9) and 10th on the floor (7.6).

Tough rebound

Antioch's Matt Pelland pulls down rebound in mist of Fenton players. Game at Antioch was Sequoia's 'Pack The Place' promotion. Antioch coach Don Zeman said he was pleased with the crowd's enthusiasm. Antioch's win over the Bison helped also. Antioch, now 4-4 in the North Suburban Conference, is at Warren Jan. 22. Blue Devils are one game out of first place. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Grant, Round Lake key contest will clear up NWSC race

Almost one year ago to the day, Grant's Northwest Suburban Conference win gave the Bulldogs sole possession of first place in the league race en route to a NWSC championship.

The Bulldogs are hoping history repeats while Round Lake is aiming for a comeback from its first NWSC loss of this season when the two teams clash in Round Lake Jan. 22. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

"We're back in a race," Round Lake coach Bob Ward said.

Following Round Lake's win over Marengo, it looked as though the Panthers would be the clear team to beat. Anyone who is anyone in the league thought so. But someone forgot to tell Johnsburg. The Skyhawks proceeded to knock off the Panthers 63-56. That, coupled with Grayslake's upset of Marengo and Grant's win at Lake Zurich, leaves three teams clawing for the crown.

Both Ward and his counterpart, Grant coach Tom Maple, know the key to the contest will be more than just stopping the other's top point producer.

"We know they are playing well and Culotta (Grant's center Tony) will be strong inside. But Wilhelm (John) has been playing well, too," Ward said.

"We don't want to be beaten by the three-pointer or a 20-point game by (Brian) Richardson, either. They're sound at all positions. They have a pretty firm lineup. We have to be on the top of our game," Maple said.

Round Lake, now 10-4 overall, started the game at Johnsburg on the right foot with a 15-10 margin after one quarter.

"We had a good spurt in the first quarter but we missed opportunities to extend the lead to 10 or 12 in the second quarter. They played a better game than we did," Ward said.

The Panthers started to have problems after the good start. After the five-point lead, Johnsburg rallied to win the second quarter 17-11 and the third 19-13. Round Lake closed the gap to within two with just under two minutes remaining but the Skyhawks made clutch free throws.

Ward pointed to three reasons for his team's downfall.

"We did not rebound offensively very well. We did not convert on our scoring opportunities and their shooting hurt us," Ward said.

Todd Collis led the visitors with 16 points. Tim Unroe scored 11, but guard Tim Dun and Richardson were both held to 10 apiece.

At Lake Zurich, the host Bears were looking to snap a four-game losing streak. Lake Zurich, behind 16 points from Troy Hines, led 13-9 after one, 24-18 at halftime and 40-31 going into the final quarter.

But the determined Bulldogs' outscored the hosts 25-10 in the final quarter.

"Free throws carried us and we showed perseverance when both teams had opportunities to win, we played hard the whole second half," Maple said.

The Bulldogs made 11-of-14 free throws, 78.5 percent, in the final eight minutes. Lake Zurich hit half of its free throws, six of 12.

Dave Sparks was two-for-three from the charity stripe and Jim McGeever contributed four-of-five for Grant. Culotta led Grant with 15 points while junior guard Kip Paul had 13.

In addition to free throws, another key to Grant was a switch in defense. The Bulldogs changed from a 1-2-2 zone early to man-to-man.

"Man-to-man defense has been our best defense all year," Maple said.

Lancers seek Skyway wins

College of Lake County basketball coach Bruce Smith is hoping next week's games in the Skyway Conference will provide needed wins so the Lancers can once again get into the title picture.

The Lancers host Waubesa on Jan. 26 before starting second round play by hosting McHenry on Jan. 28. CLC picked up a confidence-booster in a 76-63 win at Harper against Palatine on Saturday.

"After disappointments of the other games, it is good that we played it," Smith said after his team improved to 10-8 overall.

CLC looked like it might be in trouble against a Hawks team which had fallen on hard times. CLC trailed 34-30 at halftime after a Harper spurt.

But Matt Weber came off the bench to score 11 points as he made five-of-six field goals. Joel Elfering, a Warren High graduate, had 14 points in the second half and Don Kiesgen added eight rebounds.

Ed Beskow led CLC's offense in the first half, when he scored 10 of his 14 points.

The "disappointments" that Smith referred to came in to Skyway Conference losses last week. The Lancers fell to league-leading Wright 74-69 at home and then lost to Elgin 66-62 on the road.

Against Elgin, the Spartans tied the game at 62 on a three-pointer by Mark Rau. But Kiesgen, who scored 11 points, then came through with some key free throws.

Bob Bell had 15 to lead CLC and Beskow added 12.

Mad scramble

Five players fight for elusive loose ball during Johnsburg-Grant Northwest Suburban Conference basketball game. Chris Diedrich (32) and Grant's John Wilhelm lead their team's efforts. Grant is at Round Lake Jan. 22.

Mundelein preparing for hot-shooting Coles in NSC tilt

Last week, it was Rob Pelinka. This week it is James Coles.

For the second straight Friday, Mundelein's basketball team will have to try and stop a hot-shooting scorer. Lake Forest's Pelinka scored 37 points to pace the Scouts to an 81-70 win. Coles is North Chicago's top scorer and is coming off a 31-point showing in a win over Stevenson.

Mundelein was looking to better its overall record to better than .500 but after losing to the Scouts, the Mustangs lost to rival Libertyville in a 94-72 shootout Saturday, dropping the Mustangs to 3-5 in the North Suburban Conference, 6-9 overall.

Following the Lake Forest contest, Mundelein coach Dennis Kessel blasted the officiating.

"It was a classic case of protecting a team's top scorer," Kessel said.

Pelinka scored 26 of his 37 points in the second half.

The game was Mundelein's 'Pack The Place' promotion and the way the first quarter went, it looked like the Mustangs were primed for an upset.

Right from the opening tip, when Doug Sundell scored on a layup and then tallied off a steal, you could tell it would be a special start for Sundell. Sundell would score 14 points in the first quarter as Mundelein stayed with the high-powered Scouts and led 19-17 after one. A tip-in by Jeff Fuller with one second left gave Mundelein the lead.

But Sundell was limited to just two points after that and was not even the team's leading scorer. That honor went to J.T. Mathwig, who finished with 19 points.

"You can't win without your best players on the floor. And I'm not just talking about Jan. 15. In 14 games, he has fouled out eight times," Kessel said of Sundell.

Kessel's strategy going into the contest was to use a box-in-one on Pelinka and try and make him give up the ball. The strategy worked in the first quarter.

A 16 footer by Mathwig gave Mundelein a 21-17 lead in the opening minute of the second quarter. Two free throws by Tim Ulrich tied the game at 22. It was the last time the Mustangs would be even.

Lake Forest then put together an 11-2 run in the next two minutes to up its lead to 33-24. In the end that proved to be the difference.

Mundelein got back into the contest somewhat at the end of the first half. A Ulrich layup, a bucket by Mathwig and a free throw by Mathwig cut the lead to 38-31 at halftime.

Lake Forest increased its lead in the third quarter to 15 points and lead 56-43 entering the final quarter.

Mundelein then made a run at the Scouts. A three-pointer and a two-pointer by Mathwig trimmed the lead to 68-63 with 3:42 left. But Mundelein fell to its fatal flaw of not being able to make free throws. The hosts missed six fourth quarter free throws.

Against Libertyville, the Mustangs fell victim to a hot-shooting Wildcat team which had just recorded its first victory of the year 24 hours earlier.

Mundelein trailed just 23-22 after one, but Libertyville took off in the second and third quarters.

Stevenson planning to upset Zion-Benton in league battle

Basketball coaches never like losing, especially two league games in one weekend.

But Stevenson coach George Katich, following losses to North Chicago and Fenton last week, remains optimistic.

"Maybe the loss to Fenton will do some good. Maybe it will be our turn to upset somebody," Katich said.

The Patriots fell to 4-4 in the North Suburban Conference and 6-8 overall. Katich was one of the first NSC coaches to tab Zion, whom the Pats meet in an away game Jan. 22, as the team-to-beat.

"I saw them play in a summer league and thought of them as one of the top two teams in the league. With Zion, everybody scares you," he said.

The Pats fell to North Chicago 70-65 and the Warhawks' star, James Coles, finished with 31 points.

"We played real well but there was a couple of times when we did not play smart," Katich said.

Both teams were tied at 65-65 with the game on the line. Stevenson missed its chances to score and North Chicago capitalized to win the contest in the final few minutes.

Jim Neary and Rob Anderson had 18 each to lead the Pats.

The two teams played to a 39-all tie but North Chicago came out to outscore Stevenson 19-13 in the third quarter. Stevenson's fourth-quarter rally fell short.

The next night against Fenton, Stevenson started slowly before eventually losing 51-41. After trailing 6-0, the Pats rallied to tie the first quarter at 8-8. Stevenson led 16-15 at halftime and 30-26 after three. But the host Bison exploded in the final quarter, winning it 24-11.

Cleveland Tyson had 11 for the Pats.

Lake Forest 58,

Stevenson 55:

Lake Forest took the early lead, 17-12 after one, but Stevenson rallied to trim the halftime deficit to 27-26. The Scouts dominated the third quarter, winning it 18-9 but Stevenson rallied in the fourth. A 20-13 run brought the Pats to within one point but Lake Forest's Ryan Trigg sank two free throws with three seconds left.

"We had a couple of shots at the end but the officials did not give us a chance. They called two intentional fouls, the first one I could accept, but the second one was unbelievable," Katich said.

Stevenson 62, Libertyville 40:

Katich had reason to be concerned about a let-down the next night against the Wildcats in an away game, but the Pats turned in another strong performance. The visitors edged Libertyville 13-11 after one quarter before putting on a second-quarter run.

Carmel, Hilltoppers aiming to continue streaks

Two teams looking to continue winning streaks will clash when Carmel hosts Joliet Catholic in an East Suburban Catholic Conference game Jan. 22.

Carmel picked up two more wins last week to run its winning streak to four games. The Hilltoppers, meanwhile, will be looking to extend their ESCC winning streak to two after breaking into the league win column for the first time last week against St. Patrick.

"They beat St. Patrick by 25 points and they are getting themselves on a roll. They had expected to do much better in the conference but the win should be a confidence builder for them," Carmel coach Scott Rosberg said of the visitors.

Carmel knocked off Holy Cross 53-51 to improve its ESCC record to 4-3. Then the Corsairs took care of Hersey 51-43 Saturday to notch their second away win in as many nights.

Scott Stahoviak turned in two strong performances on both occasions. He scored 31 points against Holy Cross and 16 against Hersey. The senior had 10 and 11 rebounds, respectively, in the two wins.

"Since the Kankakee tournament, Scott has really put it all together," Rosberg said.

A look at Carmel's latest double-win weekend:

Carmel 53, Holy Cross 51:

The Corsairs led by 10 at halftime and into the fourth quarter before the hosts rallied - an aspect of the game which concerned Rosberg.

"Their pressure defense got to us in the fourth quarter. We were up by 10 or 12 and we made some unforced errors.

We let them back in the game," Rosberg said.

Holy Cross also hurt Carmel by making four three-point shots.

Carmel 51, Hersey 43:

It was a game that Rosberg has grown to like from his forces - low scoring, but an important non-league win.

Scott Rosberg

"That's the way we like it. We don't have a lot of high-scoring type of games," Rosberg said.

The rookie mentor was concerned going into the contest about how the team would be prepared for an away Saturday night contest.
